

Greetings from New Zealand - the world of natural products!

New Zealand's geographic location in the middle of the South Pacific Ocean, thousands of kilometers away from highly populated regions of the world has contributed to an exceptional evolutionary development.

The country is blessed with a unique flora and fauna, which has developed independently and has produced some amazing creatures and plants. The natural environment has in many parts been preserved in its pristine state and awareness and commitment by its people will make sure that this gift from nature will be preserved in eternity.

New Zealand's natural environment is also a source for many unique products, which can not be found anywhere else in the world.

Nature Shop New Zealand is privileged to be able to offer some of them to consumers outside of New Zealand! We have carefully selected natural products, which meet strict environmental and sustainability criteria and are at the same time highly beneficial to consumers.

Natural Personal Care Range

Nature Shop New Zealand has developed a range of personal care products, such as anti-acne set, skin moisturizer, hair care and sun screen.

This product range will be expanded on but all products are based on Totarol™, a highly effective ingredient, derived from the native New Zealand Totara tree. This tree is known to reach an age of more than 1000 years and it develops a highly anti-bacterial activity after about 150 years of growth.

It is this activity, which is being extracted and gives our personal care range its unique character and effectiveness.

The whole process is however totally sustainable and environmentally friendly as only dead wood is being extracted and no live trees have therefore to be cut.
